

THE PINK RIBBON RACKET

After 60 years and one trillion dollars in cancer “research” donations alone, where is the “cure”? After people have been giving their hard earned money all these years to the millionaires and billionaires of Big Pharma to further inflate their huge salaries, and to vivisectors for animal experimentation, a scientific fraud that harms all life on this planet, what have they come up with? Nothing! They have not discovered a “cure to any disease and, to cancer patients, they still offer the same toxic therapies that they perpetuated on a gullible, unsuspecting public in the 1930’s: surgery, radiation and chemotherapy.

There ARE cures to disease but since they don’t involve drugs and invasive procedures, Big Pharma has no interest in advertising them. They suppress and discredit all information about cancer prevention and natural cures. Their huge profits depend on people getting sick and staying that way. Big Pharma has about as much interest in making people healthy as the military-industrial complex has in world peace. It’s all about money. Not health. Not “cures”.

We’re waiting for people to find their common sense, which they have lost somewhere along the way, and say to themselves, “Wait a minute! My parents gave! My grandparents gave! My GREAT-grandparents gave! NO MORE! There must be a better way!
